William Fuhrberg (1926 -)

William Fuhrberg was a self taught artist and concern violinist. He was born in Chicago and lived in the south suburb of Palos Park. William enjoyed the forest preserves and wildlife in the area and did many paintings of it on the spot. He spent countless hours at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Nelson Atkins Museum studying the paintings. He exhibited works in art shows in Chicago, Indiana and Michigan. One of his shows was held at the Krasyl Art Gallery in St Joseph, Michigan, where he played his violin during the reception. Another exhibit of his works was displayed at the Culinary Center of Kansas City in Overland Park, Kansas. He belonged to the Greater Kansas City Art Association. William painted in Maine, Canada, Colorado, North Carolina, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Mexico. His paintings are in a variety of styles and mediums.

William Fuhrberg began his study of the violin at age six with his father who was a professor of violin in Chicago at the artistic and cultural Fine Arts building, where he maintained his studio. Mr. Fuhrberg, Sr. prior to this, studied in Vienna and Pisek, Bohemia with Otokar Sevcik, known as one of the greatest teachers in the world at that time. William Fuhrberg continued his studies with his father until age sixteen. He then studied at the Julliard School of Music in New York with Joseph Fuchs and at the American Conservatory in Chicago with Scott Willits. At fourteen years of age, he performed with the Morton Symphony, twice as a soloist. Firstly, the D Major Polonaise of Wieniawski and then at fifteen years the Concerto in D of Paganini-Wilhemj. At age 15 he played the Paganini Violin Concerto with orchestra.

After a short period of service in the navy, at which time he performed recitals and bond sale programs, he returned to civilian life and studied with John Weicher and Scott Willits in Chicago. Over the years, Mr. Fuhrberg has been a member of a number of Symphony Orchestras in first and second violin positions including The Arkansas State Symphony, the Aspen Festival, the New Hampshire Music Symphony, the Chicago Civic, Lyric Opera of Chicago, Milwaukee Symphony, Oklahoma City Symphony and the Buffalo Philharmonic. He also played in community orchestras in his student days. He has also performed as a soloist with orchestra the Concerto #2 in D minor by Wieniawski.

In the early part of his career he was hit head on by a drunk driver which caused significant physical damage requiring the placement of a steel plate in his left arm and later spinal surgery. In the intervening years teaching became his major contribution to the musical world, with his most recent joy being the successes of one time pupil Soovin Kim, who in the past two years has won the Paganini competition in Genoa, Italy, the Henryk Szering award in Monaco (Prince Ranier present) and Avery Fisher award in New York. Another former pupil Evan Rynes has gone to Europe and is now a professional symphony violinist in Germany. Another pupil, Elizabeth Van Gelderen is distinguishing herself in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin area working on the Tchaikowsky Concerto and Bach Chaconne. She is also teaching 60 violin students. Another violinist, David Kim, won competitions under the guidance of Mr. Fuhrberg ten years ago. Of the hundreds of violinists influenced by Mr. Fuhrberg, many are performing with various orchestras today. His student orchestra has recorded for CBS Television and concerts have been conducted at Wheaton College and Oak Forest, Illinois, The Museum of Natural History and The Chicago Public Library. He has taught at Suzuki Institutes and workshops and for many years conducted his own summer workshops.

Since living in Kansas City, Mr. Fuhrberg has become a member of the Federated Teachers, the Kansas City Musical Club and Hasta. Mr. Fuhrberg and his wife Carolyn have performed at several retirement and nursing homes. Recently, Mr. Fuhrberg conducted a string orchestra at the 100th anniversary celebration of the Kansas City Musical Club. Mr. Fuhrberg believes very implicitly that a secure technical approach to the violin is an absolute necessity to proficiency so that “the heart can sing.”
